'Their deep knowledge of the nature of digital assets, wallet structures, and Web3 business models is reflected directly in their drafting. Instead of relying on generic fund templates, they proactively incorporate crypto-specific wordings and clauses into fund documents, making them clear, accurate, and practical for all stakeholders, from fund managers to service providers and even auditors.'

'I've worked with Loeb Smith on a number of crypto fund matters, including fund formation, regulatory compliance, and handling in-kind subscriptions using digital assets.'

'Gary Smith is particularly impressive. He is not only highly knowledgeable on the legal side but also well-versed in how crypto businesses operate in practice. Their ability to explain complex regulatory matters in plain language makes decision-making much easier on our end and the crypto client side.'
